Typesay designer agreement

Terms and conditions of business. Version 2026-11-10, dated 10 November 2026. heytypesay.com/author-terms

1. Who can sell

Anyone aged 18 or over can open an author account. You must give accurate details and keep your payout details up to date. One person or foundry per account.

2. Your fonts and your rights

You confirm that you made each font you upload, or hold written permission to sell it, and that it does not copy or modify another font without permission. You keep full ownership of your work. You give Typesay a non-exclusive licence to host, preview, advertise, sell and deliver your fonts under the licence types you choose, for as long as they are listed and for buyers who already hold a licence after that.

Selling on Typesay is not exclusive. You may sell the same fonts anywhere else.

3. Listings

Each listing needs working font files, a cover image you have the rights to use, an honest description and correct moods. Every font is reviewed before it goes live. We may ask for changes, decline a font or edit its category and tags so buyers can find it.

4. Prices and licences

You set the price for each licence type you offer: desktop, web and app. Prices are in US dollars. Buyers get the licence terms on the licensing page. You may also attach your own licence (EULA) to a font. Buyers accept it at checkout alongside ours and receive it with their files. It must allow at least the uses of the licence type the buyer paid for, and where the two differ for a buyer, the wider permission applies.

5. Commission

Your first 3 fonts are commission free, so you keep the full price. From your 4th font, Typesay keeps 25 percent of each sale. The rate is fixed on each font at the moment it is listed. If we change the rate later, fonts you already listed keep their rate.

Payment processing fees are taken off before the split, and you see them on every sale in your account.

6. Payouts

Each sale settles for 30 days before it can be paid, so refunds and disputes are resolved first. Settled balances are paid monthly, in the first week, once they reach $50.00, or a higher amount the designer chooses in their account. Smaller balances roll over. We pay by PayPal, Wise or bank transfer using the details in your account. A transfer fee of 2% of each payout, capped at $20.00, is deducted from the payment. You are responsible for tax on your earnings and for telling us about any tax that should be withheld.

7. Refunds and chargebacks

We refund buyers under the refund policy. When a sale is refunded or charged back, your share of it comes off your balance. If you were already paid, it comes off your next payout.

8. Removing fonts

You can withdraw a font from your account at any time. It stops being sold straight away, and buyers who already hold a licence keep it and can still download their files. We may remove fonts or close accounts for copyright complaints, false information, fraud or breaking these terms. Money owed for genuine sales is still paid, minus refunds.

9. Copyright complaints

If someone says your font infringes their rights, we may hide it while we look into it under our DMCA process and ask you for proof of ownership.

10. Promotion

We may feature your fonts, name and cover images on Typesay, in emails and on social media to promote them. Ads may appear on pages for free fonts.

11. Changes and ending the agreement

We will give you at least 60 days notice by email before any change to commission, payouts or these terms. If you do not agree with a change, you can withdraw your fonts and close your account before it applies, without any penalty, and we pay everything you are owed for genuine sales. Fonts you already listed keep their commission rate. Each version of this agreement is dated, and your account records the version you accepted and when. You can close your account at any time. Clauses about licences already sold, money owed and liability carry on after it closes.

12. Law

This agreement is governed by South African law. Questions: contact us.
